Thursday, October 17

8:00am  Continental breakfast available

9:00am  Introduction and Welcome

Alice Miller, Stanford University &
Tai Ming Cheung, University of California – San Diego

9:30-11:45am  Session 1: General Themes

Commentator: Peter Lorge, Vanderbilt University
Moderator: Joanna Waley-Cohen, New York University

Is There a Chinese Culture of Military Technology and Innovation?
Alanna Krolikowski, University of Toronto

Science, Technology, and the Modern Chinese State: Policy Interventions and Constitutional Puzzles
Pete Suttmeier, University of Oregon

Military Revolutions, Revolutions in Military Affairs, and the Case of China
Alice Miller, Stanford University &
Tai Ming Cheung, University of California – San Diego

11:45-1:15pm  Lunch

1:15-2:45pm  Session 2: Science and Technology in the Post-Mao Era

Commentator: Peter Suttmeier, University of Oregon
Moderator: Alice Miller, Stanford University

The Influence of Chinese Leaders in Shaping Science and Technology Development
Ezra Vogel, Harvard University
Thursday, October 17 (cont.)

Tai Ming Cheung, University of California – San Diego

3:00-3:15pm Break

3:15-4:45pm Session 3: Science and Technology in the Late Empire

Commentator: Benjamin Elman, Princeton University
Moderator: Ezra Vogel, Harvard University

Ming-Qing Receptivity to Jesuit Knowledge of Western Science and Technology
Joanna Waley-Cohen, New York University

The Self-Strengthening Movement’s Strategic Debates over Foreign Technology
Richard Horowitz, California State University - Northridge

Friday, October 18

8:00am Continental breakfast available

8:30-10:00am Session 4: Science and Technology in the Republic

Commentator: Charlotte Furth, University of Southern California
Moderator: Benjamin Elman, Princeton University

The Early Republic: The Warlords, Military Technology, the New Culture Movement and the Birth of China’s Scientific Community
Wang Zuoyue, California State Polytech

The Nanjing Republican State and S&T in the National Interest
Jay Taylor

10:15-11:45pm Session 5: Science and Technology under Mao

Commentator: Alice Miller, Stanford University
Moderator: Richard Horowitz, California State University - Pomona

The Implications of Adopting the Soviet Model of Technological Development
James H. Williams, Monterey Institute of International Studies
Adapting to Isolation: Dilemmas of Technological Development in the 1960s and 1970s
Cong Cao, University of Nottingham

11:45-1:30pm Lunch
1:30-2:30pm Concluding Remarks